Interdisciplinary Seminar on Ageing Research

AUTUMN PROGRAM 2017

September 11, 2017, 15:00-16:30
- Rönnen, Campus US
Kick-off for the seminar series
Research presentations from both groups (ASC & NIV).
Andreas Motel-Klingebiel, Professor in Ageing and later Life, ASC and Jan Marcusson, Professor in Geriatrics, NIV.

October 9, 2017, 15:00-16:30
- KO301, Campus Norrköping
“Quality evaluation in elderly care”
Bonnie Poksinska, PhD, Associate Professor, Logistics and Quality Management (LOGQ), Department of Management and Engineering (IEI), LiU.

November 13, 2017, 15:00-16:30
- Rönnen, Campus US
“Life-course inequalities, late employment and beyond”
Gerhard Naegele, PhD, Professor, Technical University Dortmund, Germany.

December 11, 2017, 15:00-16:30
- KO301, Campus Norrköping
“Registry based dementia research”
Katarina Nägga, MD, PhD, Docent, senior consultant at MEGA klin US.

For more information, please see next page
INFORMATION

CONTACT: isar@liu.se

ORGANIZING GROUP:
Andreas Motel-Klingebiel, Professor in Ageing and later Life
Jan Marcusson, Professor in Geriatrics
Lars-Christer Hydén, Professor in Social Psychology
Susanne Kelfve, Postdoc Researcher in Ageing and Later Life (coordinator)

ABOUT THE EVENT:

The LiU Interdisciplinary Seminars on Ageing Research brings together researcher that work on different thematic and disciplinary aspects of ageing and has a thematic focus on issues of ageing with interdisciplinary relevance and scope.

While two LiU partners – Geriatrics (NIV) at the Department of Clinical and Experimental Medicine (IKE) and Ageing and Social Change (ASC) at the Department of Social and Welfare Studies (ISV) – constitute the core of this approach, there will be regular contributions invited from inside and outside LiU. The series serves as a nucleus for wider interdisciplinary cooperation and centre building on research on ageing.

The seminars take place monthly on the second Monday of the month at 15-16:30 alternately in two campuses with medical presentations given in Norrköping and social-/behavioural presentations in Linköping in order to stimulate exchange.